HEPATITIS C BASICS

What is Hepatitis C?

- People can get Hepatitis C when blood carrying the virus gets into their bloodstream
- Once inside, it infects the liver and causes inflammation and scarring of the liver
- The liver is important because it helps the body fight infections, clean toxins (poisons) from the blood, digest food and more
- The more damage there is, the harder it is for the liver to do its job and people can become very sick

How is Hepatitis C spread?

Hepatitis C is spread blood to blood. It is transmitted through blood only but can be present in fluids containing blood.

HIGH RISK

- Sharing injection drug use equipment Syringes Cookers/Spoons Water/Filters
- Sharing Crack/Meth Pipes
 Chapped/burned lips can transmit the virus
- Tattoos from unregulated shops
 Prison tattoos

 Home tattoos

Improper sterilization

LOW RISK

- Exposure to infected blood through manicures, pedicures, sharing personal care items (razors, toothbrushes, etc.).
- Sex with an infected partner. This is an uncommon route of transmitting the Hepatitis C virus, especially among long-term monogamous couples.

Testing for Hepatitis C

There are two levels of testing that need to be done before someone can be confirmed to have the Hepatitis C virus active in their body.

Antibody Test:

This is the first test and determines if someone has been exposed to the Hepatitis C virus. 20-25% of people spontaneously recover from Hepatitis C, so they may test positive for the antibody test, but have already cleared the virus from their system.

RNA (Ribonucleic Acid) Test:

This tests for the genetic material of the Hepatitis C virus in the blood and determines if someone currently has active Hepatitis C. This test needs to be positive for someone to be diagnosed with Hepatitis C.

Prevention

 Don't use drug equipment that has been used by someone else, such as:

Syringes

Filters

Cookers

Water

Pipes for smoking crack or crystal meth

Straws for snorting

 Hepatitis lives for many days outside of the body, especially in:

Cookers and filters (wash's)

Water

Syringes

 Always go to a tattoo shop that is inspected by Public Health. Avoid getting tattoos in prison or at home.

USE NEW EQUIPMENT EVERY TIME.

Stages of Liver Damage

Hepatitis C infection:

The Hepatitis C virus enters the bloodstream and infects liver cells.

Inflammation:

Damaged liver cells cause the liver to swell.

Fibrosis:

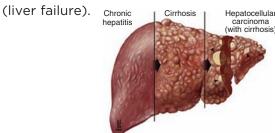

Damaged liver cells become scar tissue.

Cirrhosis:

Advanced scarring of the liver that results in impaired liver functioning.

Liver cancer or liver failure:

In some cases people living with Hepatitis C can develop liver cancer, or their liver can stop working

How do I live healthy with Hepatitis C?

Once diagnosed, there are some things that can keep someone with Hepatitis C healthy regardless of whether or not they choose treatment.

- Get the vaccine for Hepatitis A and B so you don't become co-infected
- Reduce alcohol and smoking which can be hard on your liver
- Practice safer sex
- · Eat a healthy and balanced diet
- Drink 8 glasses of water a day
- Get light to moderate exercise 3-6 times per week
- Take breaks and rest when you feel tired
- Reduce stress
- Maintain friendships
- See your healthcare provider for regular check ups
